Indiana University's Hoosier Hunt

INSTRUCTIONS

This hunt will take you through popular IU landmarks. Use the map on the back to guide you and put a check mark by its name as you find the stops. Tell us which stop was your favorite by taking a picture of you and your group at the stop. Get creative with your photos; we'll share the best ones on our social media!

Hi, I'm Sammy!

Standing around is driving me nuts, so let's get started!

How many limestone owls can you find on your hunt?

Chemistry Building 5

The front of this building is organized to depict the periodic table of elements. Look closely and see if you can name any of the elements.

Divine Nine Plot 3

These limestone markers display the names of the nine original Black Greek chapters in America known as the "Divine Nine". A tenth limestone marker represents the National Pan-Hellenic Council.

Elinor Ostrom Sculpture 4

Elinor Ostrom was the first woman to be awarded the Nobel Prize in Economics in 2009. This is the first statue honoring a woman on the Indiana University Bloomington Campus.

Indiana Arc 1

The Indiana Arc is an iconic IU Bloomington sculpture. Created in 1955, this bright red twisting arc sits on the lawn of the Eskenazi Museum of Art.

Showalter Fountain 2

In the center of the Fine Arts Plaza a fountain holding massive fish surround a sculpture of Venus, the roman goddess which signifies love and beauty. Don't bother fishing, though (these fish are made of bronze!)

Student Building 9

Think this clock is loud enough to wake you up in the morning? IU's Student Building clock tower is 110 feet tall and rings every 15 minutes.

Herman B Wells Sculpture 6

This statue honors IU's former President, Herman B. Wells. Wells had a huge impact on making IU a respected university and he emphasized protecting campus's green space.

Sample Gates 8

These Indiana limestone gates are hard to miss! Edson Sample funded their construction in 1987 as a way to honor his parents. Come on in! IU welcomes you!

You don't even have to knock!

Rose Well House 7

This iconic spot is one of the oldest structures on campus. Visiting the Rose Well House has become a romantic tradition over the years.

Indiana Memorial Union 10

This is one of the largest student unions in the world! It plays an important role in campus life by providing dining, shopping, club activities and events for students, alumni and visitors!
